1.0 Executive Summary

kulaBrands is dedicated to building the community, locating unique talent, inventions, and supporting the community of members to bring these to market successfully. As a patent-pending business opportunity, kulaBrands sells memberships to those interested in joining the kulaBrands community. Members, in turn, receive royalties for products they choose to crowdfund, brand, and or sell. Members also receive royalties on members' activity referred by them.

kulaBrands™ Inc is a new, innovative company inspired by the idea of creating a company for the people that radically changes the home-based business model. kulaBrands is the brainchild of Inventor and Businessman, Peter Gantner. kulaBrands has evolved over the last 3 years to a functioning business through the collaboration and committed efforts of our dynamic team and the kulaBrands community, including Doug Kyle, Yaan Gullede, and Cory Moran who have brought it all together. Also, the successful businessman, Mr. Jeff Hoffman (co-founder Priceline.com), is a co-founder and applauds it. Mr. Hoffman is quoted as saying, "kulaBrands is one of the first business models I have ever seen designed right from the ground up."

By developing a company that uses collaboration and fosters innovation, the result is a dynamic, synergistic paradigm that has revolutionized a shift in business. kulaBrands invites inventors, creative artists, and entrepreneurs to join forces in a unique patent-pending business model to collaborate and launch new products, as well as their respective companies!

kulaBrands business was developed by recognizing and combining several powerful trends: crowdfunding, social media marketing, crowd intelligence, work from home movement, and collaborative business structure.

By combining collaboration, technology and online social networks with community-based crowdfunding (social funding), direct sales (social selling), and social branding/marketing, the products we decide to launch can go beyond the traditional home-based business format to the shelves of the traditional retail marketplace worldwide, both off and online.

In compliance with our Community Bill of Rights, a community-elected kulaBrands member will always have a seat on the Board of Directors. This Board member ensures that kulaBrands members are represented in every aspect of our business. With our business model, the kulaBrands community, inventors, and company succeed together, and everyone benefits from everyone else's success.

2.0 Company Overview

kulaBrands™, Inc. (the "Company"), a Delaware corporation, is a community-based, patent-pending business model in the home-based business space that perpetually rewards its members for supporting inventors and project creators. The patent is based on Dynamic Reverse Royalty Allocation Systems and Methods, U.S. Pat. App. No.: 15/441,735, which are paid by an inventor or an artist to kulaBrands for supporting them in the three critical areas needed to build a successful brand/company. The three areas are social sourcing (reward-based crowdfunding), social branding/marketing, and social selling (direct sales). These activities are accomplished using proprietary software, internet, crowdfunding platforms, social media sites, brand ambassadors, and collaborative community activities. The Company operates kulaBrands.com, kulafunded.com, shopkula.com, and kulaforum.org websites and facilitates activities performed by the community members (the "Community").

The Community membership is governed by member-specific agreements to explain the rights, obligations, and terms of membership with kulaBrands. As a community-driven company, the Company aims to include the members in the management and operational decisions of kulaBrands and welcomes their thoughts and suggestions regarding their agreement. Members joining the Community agree to the terms and conditions of the signed member agreement (including the Compensation Plan). In addition to receiving reverse royalties, mentioned above, Currently, the lifetime membership fee is $299.

From February 28, 2016, to June 30, 2019, the Company signed contracts engaging 42 inventors and with the power of the Community launched 43 products with the current membership count of 6,205.

2.1 What Makes kulaBrands Different?

The kulaBrands difference is our understanding and the focus on the kulaBrands Community. We understand that the true power of the model is the Community members. We have developed a business model and culture that enables every activity of each member to help build royalties for themselves, as well as other Community members. We exemplify, “a rising tide raises all ships.” We believe that collaborative business models are the future of the modern economy.

2.2 How kulaBrands Helps Inventors Succeed

The kulaBrands patent-pending business model provides entrepreneurs with the three main elements of success. kulaBrands provides a ready-made, active Community that supports the inventor with funding, sales, and branding and marketing. Funding is achieved via reward-based crowdfunding.

Our process starts with what is known as pre-pledging, where kulaBrands Community members vote on every project. Pre-pledging determines how many members are interested in backing a project once it is posted on a crowdfunding website. Not every member will be involved in every project.

Having enough votes in favor of the project ensures the business owner or inventor that they have enough backing (“social capital”) to reach their funding goal, within 24 hours of going live on the crowdfunding platform. Now the inventor has money and the continued support of the kulaBrands Community once the project leaves the crowdfunding platform and launches into the mass marketplace.

Once the funding is accomplished, the Community begins to focus on sales, branding and marketing the products and or services.

Social Sourcing

Social Promotion

Social Selling

2.3 Challenges of Crowdfunding

The first challenge is that funds are needed even before the idea launches on a crowdfunding platform. The inventor must spend money on writing, video production, graphic design, prototype development, and other similar items. The second challenge is the time it takes to get a product and campaign ready for crowdfunding.

Once crowdfunding sites, such as Kickstarter or Indiegogo, approve a project and the inventor has specified a fundraising goal, the hope is that enough people will make a pledge (or back the project) to help the inventor achieve that goal. However, only a few projects reach their goal, as illustrated below:

2.4 Building a community before listing on a crowdfunding platform is the most powerful key to success. Knowing who exactly is committed to pledging on the project during the first day that it goes “live” and leveraging social capital increases chances of success.

kulaBrands Branding and Marketing

Branding and marketing are among the topmost costly expenses for a business. Development of a company’s messaging, logo design, and how a consumer interacts with those aspects of the business, requires preparation and expertise. Entrepreneurs often grossly underestimate how much time and money is needed to market a product effectively. Before the days of the internet, the traditional model of branding and marketing looked like the image below.

Many of those classic marketing methods are still in use today, and at very high costs to the entrepreneur or business owner. These days, internet marketing, social media marketing, and now kulaBrands, is a much more effective method. Especially for cash strapped startups.

kulaBrands has created tens of millions of social media views for our current companies, as well as increased engagement on the content created, which is higher than average, and released by non-kulaBrands startup companies. Several of our brands have been contacted and are doing business with major companies due to this engagement.

2.5 kulaBrands Leverages Social Platforms to Drive Sales

In simple terms, social selling means using the internet's social media platforms to create brand awareness and to drive product sales. Because kulaBrands begins driving online sales immediately after a crowdfunding project closes, the creator or inventor can preserve capital in the business exactly when he/she needs it most—at startup.

Also, kulaBrands helps increase income for the inventor at a time when sales are historically slow—at startup. Each kulaBrands member has his/her portal website, dedicated to the sale of products from kulaBrands-supported projects.

All initial sales take place online and can be shipped directly from the inventor's business location.

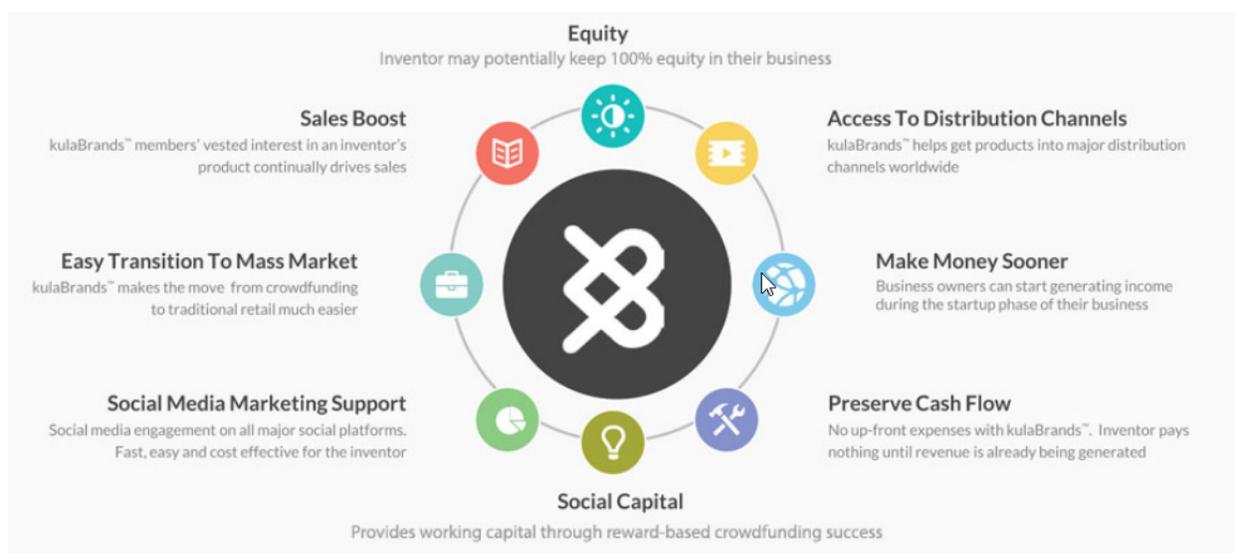

2.6 Direct Sales

Our members generate direct sales on Shopkula.com and kulaFunded. These platforms were built to sell all products supported by kulaBrands. As well, we utilize Amazon.com, Ebay.com, Facebook, and other third-party sites to generate direct sales. We also create additional sales when our members sell our inventor products at fairs and festivals and when they set up fundraisers with Kula Ultimate Fundraiser.

This revenue path enables the Community members wanting to build additional income using direct off and online social selling (direct sales) to subsidize income and retirement.

2.7 Top Reasons Inventors Work with kulaBrands

kulaBrands is a complete solution to inventors. We provide development funds, working capital through reward-based crowdfunding, revenue via direct sales, and social branding and marketing. This complete solution is provided without the inventors needing to sell any equity in their businesses. Another key reason is that the kulaBrands model helps reduce the cost of performing the previously mentioned activities. These reasons allow for better utilization of available capital. Improving the chance of success for the business. Business owners and inventors can enjoy the following benefits when partnering with kulaBrands.

EZ-On BaBeez

The EZ-ON BaBeez Baby Bodysuit is a redesigned Baby Bodysuit, which allows parents and caretakers of babies to change a baby's diaper quickly and easily! It also reduces the frequency of changing out the baby bodysuit itself with every diaper change.

Our EZ ON BaBeez Baby Bodysuit is unique and different from the traditional baby bodysuits in several ways. We redesigned and moved the opening to access the diaper from the baby's crotch area up to the belly button. This redesign provides quick, easy, and full access to the diaper without moving the baby, and, without getting one's fingers messy. We eliminated the metal snap-on buttons and replaced them with soft but strong Velcro making it safer, easier, and quieter with minimal disturbance. We also added a water-resistant liner from the lower back of the garment to the belly button at the front, which allows minor wetness to be wiped dry, eliminating having to change out the Baby Bodysuit.

GunBail: A movement to save lives

GunBail is led by entrepreneur, Trevor Brooks, whose experiences with gun violence growing up in Baltimore led him to create a new solution to lessen the impact of illegal guns on urban communities. He is supported by AmazonWeb services.

GunBail Was launched with a simple concept: Since most gun homicides in our cities are committed using illegally obtained guns, reducing the availability of those guns will help stem the tide of violence.

To help make this happen, we are developing an innovative platform with a pre-arrest and post-arrest that allows non-violent offenders to surrender their illegal guns in exchange for diversion or bail release.

6.0 Future Products and Services

Future projects and brands for kulaBrands are open to technology, publishing, food and spices, design, automotive, music and film, services and many others. kulaBrands uses collective intelligence of the community to decide which projects are launched. The kulaBrands community represents a cross-section of the of the global retail community. Currently, we have over 20 products in different stages of development, which we will be presenting to the community.

7.0 Key Operational Process

The kulaBrands business model covers three critical success factors that a company needs to become profitable. Without these three things, a product will not survive in the marketplace.

1. Crowdfunding Assistance: Through the reward-based crowdfunding process, kulaBrands helps inventors and entrepreneurs obtain capital to manufacture and launch their product.
2. Branding and Marketing: kulaBrands provides social media marketing services to build trust and brand awareness.

3. Advertising and Sales: The kulaBrands community leverages the power of the internet to help promote and drive sales for all products that kulaBrands supports.

Whenever a kulaBrands-supported product makes a sale, anywhere in the world, kulaBrands members earn a reverse royalty, if they supported that product in at least one of the three kulaBrands pools.

People joining kulaBrands pay a fee to become part of the Community with no monthly fees or auto-ship requirements. There is a $25 yearly renewal on all new members joining. The unique business model provides a Bill of Rights that genuinely gives the Community set rights within the Company and with the Community. Additionally, kulaBrands reserved a seat on the Board of Directors for an elected community member because we believe it is essential for community members to be involved in every aspect of our business kulaBrands is truly a part-time business model where, on a couple of hours a week over 3-5 years, people can build a substantial residual income. There is no requirement to recruit, and although that aspect is available, recruiting is not necessary for a person to create and build a residual income.

In addition to using our Community to generate revenue in their contacts and connections, we also leverage existing systems and existing distribution channels to distribute inventor products. So, in the early stages, kulaBrands is the one driving and creating sales for those products. As we move forward, our goal is to use much bigger distribution channels, which in turn allows us to have a much larger number of the Community making large incomes as well as everyone generating some income monthly.

Funding is dramatically more accessible through the mechanism of reward-based crowdfunding. Relevant market exposure is achieved by a hybrid, of our engaged community members and our company-own at-will, automated social media publishing software. Sales revenue is driven by our highly incentivized community of influencers, through tried and true affiliate commission programs, using high converting sales pages, as well as word of mouth advertising for success in both on and offline sales channels. With these three aspects working in concert, we can use the $300 billion direct sales industry to leverage the power of the $26 TRILLION global retail markets and develop these projects into international brands.

Today's technology facilitates greater individual social reach and leverage, which when used to its full advantage, provides a blue ocean of opportunity, in which our members can monetize their activity making it easier, faster, and more likely for a project to have a successful launch into the marketplace.

Royalties are one of the ideal revenue sources in the world. However, until now, royalties have been available only to a small segment of the population. The kulaBrands business model makes that income accessible to anyone with access to the Internet and opens an opportunity for large-scale collaboration, generating royalty income for the people who need it most.

Steve enjoys travel, especially to beach locations and is an avid fan of rock and roll music.

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

(1) We are a new company. We were formed in 2016 and have limited revenue. If you are investing in this company, it's because you believe in the idea and the market opportunity, the quality of the team, and the direction of the business to date.

Maximum Amount	30,022	$534,992.04	$513,592.04

(2) We have created a new service. There are no other companies doing what kulaBrands does. We do not have any competitors to which we can benchmark our success or our projections.

(3) We operate in a regulated industry. Certain multilevel marketing laws may apply to our business model and are subject to change.

(4) We may be subject to additional regulation. Our business model, or the products we promote, may become subject to additional regulation in the future. It could be difficult or expensive to comply with future regulation.

(5) We are controlled by our officers and directors. Our officers and directors currently hold the majority of our voting common stock, and at the conclusion of this offering will continue to hold a majority of the company's voting common stock. Peter Gantner and Doug Kyle own a class of common stock that entitle them to ten votes per share, while all other common stockholders are entitled to one vote per share. Peter Gantner and Doug Kyle will maintain voting control of kulaBrands after this offering.

(6) It is difficult for us to accurately predict our earnings potential. Because of our short operating history, it is difficult to accurately assess our growth rate and earnings potential. It is possible that our company will face many difficulties typical for early stage companies.

(7) The offering price is based on perceived value. The price of the shares available in this offering were set by kulaBrands using a qualitative measure of value and growth opportunity. The price does not reflect a relationship to its assets, net worth, or objective criteria.

(8) Reliance on key personnel. As an early stage company, kulaBrands is reliant on its current management team and key officers. If kulaBrands loses a key member of its management team, it may face significant challenges in continuing effective operation.

(9) Litigation. kulaBrands has, and will continue to have, involvement with a wide variety of products, inventors, members, suppliers, and customers. This increases the chance that kulaBrands may face litigation. Litigation can be expensive and could put a significant strain on kulaBrand's ability to operate.

(10) Dilution. kulaBrands may issue more stock in the future, which could dilute your ownership.

(11) Limited transferability and liquidity. You are acquiring the shares for investment purposes only and not with a view towards distribution. Certain conditions imposed by the Securities Act must be satisfied prior to any sale, transfer, conversion or other disposition of the shares. No public market exists for the shares and no market is expected to develop.

(12) You can lose 100% of your investment. Many small business startups fail kulaBrands is a risky venture and it may fail to achieve its goals or carry out its business plans. Each investor bears the risk of losing all or part of his/her/its investment.

(13) Locating Products and Customers. Our future growth depends to a large extent on our ability to effectively anticipate and adapt to inventor, member and customer requirements and offer products and services that meet customer demands. If we are unable to attract new customers and/or retain new inventors, members, and customers, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be materially adversely affected.

(14) Scalability of Software. Our business model relies on software and other technological resources to track sales and payments to members. If we experience rapid growth, we may be required to scale the software and resources, which could be expensive. It may also be very difficult to scale the software and resources and may require significant time.

(14) Second Regulation Crowdfunding Offering. This is our second Regulation Crowdfunding offering. We are conducting another offering because of a need for capital. We have spent virtually all of the capital raised in our first Regulation Crowdfunding offering.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. We cannot guaranty success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer? Yes No

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As the holder of a majority of the voting rights in the company, our majority shareholder may make decisions with which you disagree, or that negatively affect the value of your investment in the company, and you will have no recourse to change those decisions. Your interests may conflict with the interests of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the company will develop in a way that is advantageous to you. For example, the majority shareholder may decide to issue additional shares to new investors, sell convertible debt instruments with beneficial conversion features, or make decisions that affect the tax treatment of the company in ways that may be unfavorable to you.

Based on the risks described above, you may lose all or part of your investment in the securities that you purchase, and you may never see positive returns.

The shareholder may vote on decisions with which another investor disagrees. Depending on how other shareholders vote, the resulting outcome may conflict with an investor's interest.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The valuation of the company has been performed based on the issuers' qualitative and financial information, including but not limited to: 1. the quality, size and experience of the management team; 2.- the market of reference and business model; 3. the product/service and customers' feedback; 4. - the presence of strategic partnerships as well as external investors; 5. - the presence of relevant IP and/or legal risks; 6. - the current financial performance of the company; 7. - the projected financial performance of the company.

This information is combined with market-industry data, provided by a comprehensive valuation software, to come up with a comprehensive valuation estimate based on 5 different valuation models, 2 based on a qualitative assessment (named Scorecard and Check-List) and 3 based financial projections (namely: VC method, Discounted Cash Flows with Multiples, and Discounted Cash Flows with Long-Term Growth).

These methods are combined in a weighted average that applies the weights (see above image) according to the stage of development of the company (assessed by the valuation software), giving more emphasis on the 2 qualitative methods for early-stage businesses, and vice versa.

The weights for the above mentioned valuation methods are: Scorecard (6%), Check-list (6%), Venture Capital (16%), DCF- Long Term Growth (36%), and DCF with Multiples (36%). The full valuation report (25 pages) is part of this offering and is to be found on the in the Offering's Documents Section.

The valuation was calculated at pre-money $61,084,679.

The Company has decided to sell this offering at a pre-money valuation of $17,507,365.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if he is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits.

You have a very limited right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. Your right to control or influence the company is very limited.

You will have limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The Company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgment as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring and interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history? Yes No
28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

KulaBrands, Inc. is currently in expansion mode, which requires cash flow to maintain its growth. At any time KulaBrands can increase its cash flow by reducing expenses. The expenses are not out of the normal scope of expenditures for the steady growth of a company that is in year four of startup. While at this time the company is low on cash flow, it has all the ability to maintain viability, but aggressive growth will be harder to achieve without a cash flow influx.

Each month the company continues to grow its membership and has maintained a solid plan to keep the increase of membership growth steady.

Momentum is increasing on royalty revenue as inventors/entrepreneurs are also moving into steady revenue growth. The support of KulaBrands assists in their growth to pay more royalties.

KulaBrands also maintains an ecommerce website that is an additional cash flow generator.

The company does support loans to inventors/entrepreneurs, but key founders of the company are not putting pressure to pay the money back short term. KulaBrands does expect payback on a long term basis. KulaBrands will continue to provide small loans to inventors/entrepreneurs that have the ability to grow to bring more royalties to the community.

KulaBrands has very little liability in the form of funds borrowed, with the exception of a loan from the key founder. The founder has no set time frame for payback of the loan and will not require the company to pay it back until KulaBrands is in a positive cash flow position from standard revenue growth. KulaBrands, Inc. is in a positive status of debt to income ratio.

5. SUBSCRIPTION FOR STOCK, REPRESENTATIONS BY AND AGREEMENTS OF SUBSCRIBER:

- (a) Subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, the Subscriber hereby irrevocably subscribes for and agrees to purchase from the Company such number of shares of Stock, or fractions thereof (the "Shares"), and the Company agrees to sell to the Subscriber such number of Shares, as is set forth on the signature page hereof, at a per share price equal to SEVENTEEN DOLLARS AND EIGHTY-TWO CENTS ($17.82). The purchase price is payable via ACH into the Reg CF Offering listed on us.truCrowd.com
- (b) The Subscriber recognizes that the purchase of the Shares involves a high degree of risk including, but not limited to, the following: (a) the Company remains a development stage business with limited operating history and requires substantial funds; (b) an investment in the Company is highly speculative, and only investors who can afford the loss of their entire investment should consider investing in the Company and the Shares; (c) the Subscriber may not be able to liquidate its investment; (d) transferability of the Shares (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "Securities") is extremely limited because, among other things, there is currently no market for the Company's Securities and no market may ever develop; (e) in the event of a disposition, the Subscriber could sustain the loss of its entire investment; and (f) the Company has not paid any dividends since its inception and does not anticipate paying any dividends.
